THE INTENSITY of the Pahokee-Belle Glade rivalry was apparent in the stands as well as on the field Friday. Story on Page 6A.

Council to PMDC: Agreement cancelled

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee City Council voted unanimously to cancel its 50-year agreement with the Pahokee Marina and Development Corporation over the development and use of lakefront property.

Councilman Curtis Miners said, "It don't look like to me like any of them are doing anything on it (reparation of the marina) and I'm in favor of cancelling the lease."

The council directed Attorney Mike Stauder to inform PMDC in writing that the lease would be cancelled.

Mayor Duncan Padgett told the council that the marina facilities, especially the breakwater, were in desperate need of repair. "But I just hate to spend the taxpayers money out there, if we're going to give it away," he said.

The city, Padgett said, should cancel the agreement and then attempt to locate other means of funding marina improvements.

"But on what grounds can we cancel the agreement?" asked Council President W.E. McKinstry.

Stauder said that if PMDC had broken any clause in the contract, then the city could have grounds for termination. For example, if the corporation had not completed the mandated applications for the transferring of permits on the property, then the council should have justification, he said.

PMDC has not responded to a letter requesting a status report on work done at the Continued on 2

Linda Johnson joins editorial staff

Linda J. Johnson of Northglenn, Colorado, has joined the news-editorial staff of the Herald-Observer.

Johnson, a University of Colorado School of Journalism graduate, will be covering both hard news and features for the Herald-Observer.

Prior to coming to the Glades, she worked as a reporter for the Boulder County Courier, a weekly newspaper, and as a reporter for "The Report on AT and T" weekly newsletter.

She was editor of the Nordic Times, a high school paper, and won the Denver Post and

Voters re-elect Altman, Goodlett

BELLE GLADE—Incumbents Thomas Altman and Charles Goodlett were easily re-elected to their city commission seats as about 40 percent of the city voters turned out at the polls, Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Altman defeated Linda Paulk by a 1353-528 margin. Goodlett will enter his third term on the commission as he outpolled David Hill with 1,251 votes to 675.

About 1,990 residents voted, about 40 percent of the vote. Mayor Altman, who was returned to his fifth term on the commission, said he was pleased with the turnout and commended volunteer workers who spent weeks concentrating on getting the voters out. "They did just a terrific job," he said.

Noting that he had hoped for a 50 percent turnout, Altman said the lack of any real exciting issues may have kept some voters at home. "It was really rather a boring campaign, we really hadn't stimulated the voters."

Altman said the vote represented a review of his performance as a commissioner. "I went to my employers for a job review and they gave me a satisfactory report."

Goodlett credited his familiarity with the voters over the past 34 years as a commissioner and police chief as reasons for his big victory.

"I'm happily surprised, I didn't think the span would be so wide," he said.

Thanking all those who supported him, Goodlett said the vote told him that people supported his performance on the commission and wanted more of the same. Goodlett said the campaign was a very clean, fair race.

Paulk, socialization director at the Western Area Mental Health Clinic, entered the race in

Voter turnout very low

By LINDA JOHNSON
BELLE GLADE—Residents at the polls cited streets, water rates and housing as reasons why they cast their votes in the Belle Glade city election, Tuesday, Sept. 11.

"We need new low-cost housing," said Jewel Crane. "We need housing, period."

Greddie York said Belle Glade needed better roads and an extended sewer system. "I would like to see better housing for both races and more recreation for the young people," she said.

Many voters said they did not know what the issues were, rather were just doing their duty by voting. Others declined comment.

Jack Shafer said it was a person's patriotic duty to the city to vote. Minerva Morales said that as a Spanish person living in the United States she feels it is important to exercise her right to vote.

June Bozlioli, the city clerk said the turnout

August, citing a need for change. Hill, assistant principal at East Lake Middle, said he just wanted to work toward better overall government.

With Dan Bythwood already on the commission the race represented the first time a black majority could have been elected.

This year has been very low. At 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, only 360 people had voted and by 2 p.m. only 855 voters had turned out.

Very few people would say anything specific about the commissioners. Lenzie Brown said he wanted to see the black community cleaned up and would like a commissioner who would go into the residential areas to see exactly what needs done.

"I wish everybody would come out and vote," Brown said. "But they just won't do it."

"I would like to see some improvements gained - some improvement in the commissioners," said Vernita Anderson, who said she voted often. She did not specify what improvements need to be made.

Glenn Blair said he knew the man he voted for and could talk to him. He added that it was

Cartoonist looks at life through cynical eyes

By TOM KISKEN

CANAL POINT—A mild mannered dad precursor by day, Mark Cantrell transforms into a cartoonist at night, using ink, brush, paper and imagination to create his own brash, cynical alter ego.

As a collaborator on a satirical comic book and also an editorial cartoonist with the Herald-Observer, Cantrell, of Canal Point, said he tries to use his artistic abilities to express his view of life.

"Inside every cartoonist there's a stand up comedian struggling to get out," he said. "I don't think I ever could get up in front of people, I'd be petrified, but this (cartooning) allows me to be myself."

Director of data processing at Everglades Memorial Hospital, Cantrell's major hobby these days is working with friend Ken Mitchevich on "Space Ark," a science fiction comic strip. "Selections from the strip have been published and Cantrell expressed confidence that a national distributor will soon publish a comic book titled "No Time for Space Ark."

Space Ark, Cantrell said, is a parody of today's popular adventure-oriented comics. "We're aiming for people who are tired of superheroes," he said.

The strip follows the adventures of six animals travelling through space. In "No Time for Space Ark," the crew faces such terrors as "flem blobs" and "muchoids" in a desperate race to save their solar system "Synchronose"

Pahokee Council balances budget, hikes water rates

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee City Council revised utility rate increases and put together a balanced 1984-1985 general fund budget totaling about $1.65 million, in a workshop held Saturday, Sept. 8.

Both the utilities and general fund budget will be brought back before the council in public hearings for final approval.

If approved, residents would be charged $6.64 for the first 3,000 gallons of sewage, a decrease of 1,000 gallons in the minimum charged amount, and $2.25 for each additional 1,000 gallons used, a five cent hike.

Water rates would increase 10 cents to $2 for every 1,000 gallons over the minimum rate, which would remain at $6 for 3,000 gallons.

At a meeting Tuesday, Sept. 11, council members approved a tentative millage of 4.127 mills, which should bring the city the same amount of revenues as raised this current year. The millage this year was 4.107 mills.

Council members noted the tax did not generate much revenues for the city. Council members noted the tax did not generate much revenues for the city.

cilman Ronnie Graydon said straight expenditures out weigh revenues by about $270,000. Only by relying on a cash surplus was the council able to achieve a balanced budget.

"We cut, cut, cut and we're still $270,000 in the hole," Graydon said.

At Saturday's budget hearing, the council cut over $100,000 from its budget. The council cut about $19,000 from the police budget, by refusing a request for an additional officer.

About $15,000 was cut from parks and recreation which would have gone toward additional playground equipment. A $50,000 new garbage truck was cut from the public works department.

While the council agreed to add an additional fireman, they cut Chief Cecil Phillip's request for a new car.

At Tuesday's meeting, council members noted that hopefully additional revenues accrued during the year, such as federal revenue sharing funds, will enable the council to go ahead and purchase many of the cut items.

Parents of youth killed win lawsuit, will appeal

BELLE GLADE—The parents of a youth killed three years ago in a pedestrian-truck accident were awarded $240,000 in damages last week from the driver and his employers, according to a story in the Palm Beach Post.

Leonna Johnson was killed June 26, 1981 when a tractor-trailer, driven by James L. Drisdon, ran over him with the back right wheel of his vehicle.

The attorneys for Charles and Sainain Johnson had asked the court for $2 million.

Freiden and Roses, the Johnsons' attorneys, said they would appeal the amount won.

A blood test taken after the accident showed the blood alcohol level of the driver to be 0.18.

The legal level is 0.10. Drisdon, who was driving the tractor-trailer, denied his blood alcohol level was that high.

Both sides agreed to what happened, but could not agree on whether or not Leonna was standing in the roadway of Avenue A at the intersection of 6th Street. Drisdon's defense attorneys maintained part of the fault belonged with the parents for allowing Leonna to play near the street.

The jury found at the intersection of Drisdon 65 percent responsible and the Johnsons 35 percent responsible for the accident.

The verdict was reached in a little more than three hours last week.

Much needed road work started this week in Belle Glade on West Canal St.

SB resident arrested

SOUTH BAY—Sherri Handsford, 20, 175 N.W. 9th St., was arrested for aggravated battery for allegedly assaulting a minor with a knife, on Friday, Sept. 7.

South Bay officers said they received a report of fighting and upon responding discovered a crowd in front of Handsford's house. The minor was in the midst of the gathering with a cut on the back of his head from the knife. Handsford was arrested and taken to Belle Glade city jail. Bond was set at $3,000.

Checks bouncing in Glades

Several bad checks have been passed through the Glades with the aid of forged state driver's licenses, sheriff's officials report.

Detective Steve Haller, of the Glades Sub Station, said the checks are written from the closed account of a defunct record-paraphernalia store, Evil People Head and Sound, formerly of West Palm Beach.

The checks are usually written in the amount of $300-$350 and are being passed by both black and white males, Haller said. Describing the operation as very professional, he said the forgers apparently have access to a wide variety of identification.

IRS: estimated taxes due September 17

Individuals required to pay estimated taxes should make their next payment by September 17.

Anyone who receives income that is not subject to withholding tax or income from which not enough tax is withheld may be required to make estimated tax payments, according to the Internal Revenue Service. Such income includes but is not limited to self-employment earnings, alimony, interest, dividends, rent and capital gains. General ly, individuals must make estimated tax payments in their estimated tax for 1984 is more than $400.

Some higher income retirees who receive social security benefits will have to pay federal income tax on part of their benefits. Because social security is not subject to withholding, persons may have to make estimated tax payments.

IRS reminds Florida taxpayers that a check is now being made for four installment payments, not just for 80 percent of the amount of tax due. A penalty may be assessed for an underpayment in any quarter. Therefore, taxpayers who only make one payment for the year at the end of the year may receive a penalty for the first three quarters. Taxpayers should call 1-800-424-1040 for more information on estimating taxes. Order 1040ES forms and Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," by calling 1-800-241-3860.

Benefit scheduled

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Elks Club will hold a benefit for Sandy Sands, Sunday, Sept. 16, running from noon to 8 p.m.

Profits from the benefit will be turned over to help Sandy, a Belle Glade resident who was hospitalized for several months and is still unable to work.

Barbecued chicken will be served at the benefit, at $5 a plate. A 12 gauge shotgun will also be given away, with $1 donations requested for tickets.

SCENE from Prince Theater production of Tom Sawyer.

Prince Theater needs community support

The performance of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," last weekend in Pahokee, proved entertainment can be found in the Glades, if area residents are willing to support it.

Those who attended the Prince Theater play were treated to a well performed, energetic and amusing play. The actors and actresses had obviously put in a lot of time and effort into their work and the results were impressive.

However, those who did not attend the play may end up spoiling the situation for everyone. Unless residents show their support of the Prince Theater and the community play group, happenings like "Tom Sawyer" will be few and far between.

The city does not have the finances to support the theater by itself and unless the theater can raise its own funds, its existence could be short lived.

About 350 people attended the two performances of last weekend's plays, netting about $500, not nearly enough to cover all costs.

The question then is simple: if we want entertainment in our community, we can have it by showing support in the Prince Theater. This support can come by donating money, or materials. The theater needs any equipment or clothes to use for props and costumes.

The Sawyer cast is also hoping to put on an encore play later this week for area schools, if a sponsor can be found who will foot the electric bill.

Most of us are guilty of complaining about the lack of entertainment in the Glades and now is the time to do something about it.

Adventures aboard the Caloosahatchee

Editor's note: The following is the fourth in a series recounting the early Glades experiences of Steven Augustus "Gus" Roberts and family.

As Told By BETTY ROBERTS BOWEN
TO RUTH IRVIN

The Hillsboro Canal

On Sept. 10, 1912 the "Caloosahatchee" moved to the site of the present Belle Glade Golf course on Lake Okechobee to start digging the Hillsboro Canal. Six months earlier the coastal end had been started by smaller dredges. The short booms on these dredges could not pile material on the high banks. Daddy worked on this job, straight through from the lake to the coast. The dredge always ran two or three shifts. In the Hillsboro four holes were drilled in the rock, nine feet apart, for blasting. The canal had a top width of 60 feet which left a ridge of rock on each side. One night a digger spudded on one of the ledges, even after having been warned not to do so. The spud slipped off causing the dredge to list and the boom to swing, breaking the steam pipe of the engine and also the siphon used for ejecting barge water. The boom could not be used to level the hull, water flowed into openings in the deck and again the "Caloosahatchee" sunk. This happened near Six Mile Bend, east of present Belle Glade. Daddy was not responsible for this sinking but he liked to tell the story.

The dredge was raised and it dug the canal on through to the East Coast. Captain Forrey left to go into business with his father-in-law in LaBelle. Another Captain came on. he was soon replaced by Captain Hank Holloway, younger brother of Captain Scott Holloway. Daddy and Hamp continued to work together for many years and were soon the best of friends.

The crewmen finished their work in the Hillsboro Canal at Deerfield. They decided to celebrate in a grand manner. They chartered Captain Morris' "Wanderlust," a fine 40-foot glass cabin boat, and invited their girl friends to go along with them on a cross-state round trip cruise from Ft. Lauderdale to Ft. Myers. The trip was made in July, 1913. The "Wanderlust" cruised the North New River Canal, crossed the lake, and went down the beautiful, winding Caloosahatchee River to Ft. Myers and on to the Gulf. The men and the ladies went deep sea fishing and were entertained by people in both Ft. Myers and LaBelle. They generally had a fine time. The Ft. Myers paper duly reported on this momentous trip and the entertainment that the cruise members received.

Daddy told this story many times, always emphasizing how beautiful the girls were who made the trip. Years later, when I was growing up, he met and introduced me to a woman who had been on the trip. She may have been beautiful at that time, but she had changed quite a bit during the intervening years. After that, when he told the story I teased him about the "beautiful girls" who had gone along on the trip.

The Saint Lucie Canal

The "Caloosahatchee" was pulled back up the Hillsboro Canal to Lake Okechobee. The dredge was taken through the lake to start the Saint Lucie Canal. The dredge was propelled in the lake by dropping the bucket on the bottom for an anchor and pulling up on it. The dredge proceeded with mishap, to a point about two miles west of Bacom Point, one of the deepest parts of the lake, although the water at this time was at a low stage. Daddy and another digger were taking the big dredge across. Daddy happened to be ashore when the other digger spudded down at this spot one night.

A sudden squall came up, bringing waves of water over the low hull of the "Caloosahatchee" and water poured down the many openings on her deck. The crew, hastily aroused, could not get the steam up and a siphon rigged into the hole. The barge sank until water stood breast deep over the deck.

Planks were obtained and a bulkhead was constructed around the dredge on the pillars supporting the upper deck. A pump was secured and much work was done to get the "Caloosahatchee" afloat again. She proceeded on again and started digging the Saint Lucie Canal at Port Mayaca. Hamp Holloway became the skipper and Daddy was in his key role as digger. Operating the steam shovel on the dredge "Caloosahatchee" had become second nature to him by now.

Daddy told Mr. Will of a very interesting find in the lake when the crew was digging the Saint Lucie Canal.

It was a hot Sunday afternoon and the men were out in the lake for a swim. The Captain, unable to swim, was hanging on to the launch and kicking around in the water. His foot touched something round and warm and when the men went down and dug up this object it turned out to be a big iron kettle. They dived again and again and began to dig. They brought up five old muskets and the blades of two long knives or bayonets. The men saw open one of the guns when they were back on the dredge. They found it to be loaded with a slug and small shot and wadded with a piece of paper with print that could still be read. The powder even burned after being dried.

Daddy told Mr. Will that the old musket type guns and the knives were not very rusty. The knives were in brass bound leather scabbards. The leather in the brass bands had not rotted and the steel blades were only tarnished. Mr. Will also heard this story from another man who had been along.

Mr. Will found out, long after Daddy told him this story, that an army canoe sank during the Indian Wars at about the same place where the men made the find.

Letter

Dear Editor:

On Sept. 4th, I physically, I do not envy their job, but I personally will do it all I can now exercising my right to get them to place on right to complain. The referendum question September 11th election of annexation of town will have been Okechobee Center. I would like to this letter is printed, publicly congratulate but I still want to come Mayor Cox of South Bay for having the that many will not vote courage to be the only in that election and will Glades candidate for spend the next two years complaining that the ones who were elected aren't doing their jobs. District 5. That angers me. I wonder if Adams, Martinez or Quigley will visit the Glades to one after of them is elected? I will vote for the one who comes closest to voicing the concerns of the Glades area and commits himself to acting on those concerns. Those people who have spent the last four years complaining about President Reagan's policies need to stop whining to each other and voice their opinion at the ballot box, for surely those who worship or idolize him will do so. Reagan himself will tell you: Freedom isn't free it must be earned. Thank God for freedom and thank America for giving us the chance to earn it.

This Oct. 2, a run-off election will be held throughout Palm Beach County to decide some very important positions in county government. Undoubtedly, thousands of eligible voters will boycott the polls, some probably claiming that it is not worthy of their time to vote. Listen, it took me more than two months to decide I had taken the time to "check out" the candidates beforehand, and I just went in there worship or idolize my job. So time is no excuse. The winners of the city commission election have a difficult task ahead of them. They must work to build the spirit of this city as well as improving it.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Brown

Tentative $10.8 million Belle Glade budget OK'd

BELLE GLADE
-Commissioners approved a tentative Belle Glade city budget, totalling $10,817,508, in a public hearing Monday, Sept. 10.

The commission also unanimously approved a tentative millage of 6.0247 mills, about 10 percent above the rolled back rate. Both the budget and the millage are slated for final approval at a public hearing Monday, Sept. 24, at 7 p.m.

While Monday's hearing was intended to elicit public opinion on the budget, no residents attended.

Faced with a deficit of about $62,100 in budget workshops held last month, the commission opted for 10 percent hikes in both taxes and user fees.

The millage rate would cost a family with a home worth $75,000 about $27 over last year's rates.

Occupational licenses, lot mowing, green fees and golf cart rentals would also be affected by the new budget.

In other business, Monday, commissioners approved the reconstruction of a rainshed and restroom facility at the golf course. Head golf pro George Dermott said all materials and labor have been donated for the project.

Commissioners commended Dermott for the project and his work as pro over the last two months. Mayor Thomas Altman said, "I've never seen the type of change that's gone on over the last 8 weeks since George came out there."

In a similar project, the city's volunteer firm received permission to construct an enclosed screen barrier over the east side of the station for use at drill night cookouts. Again the project will be done at no cost to the city.

The commission agreed to refund a $154 building permit fee to the non-profit community organization, Neighbors Organized for Adequate Housing.

Community United Methodist Church plans homecoming observance Sept. 30

As Methodist Churches all over America are observing their Bicentennial year, the members of Community United Methodist Church are preparing for their own celebration. On September 30, the church will host a Homecoming 'Bicentennial Sunday.

Many former members and several former pastors are expected for the celebration, many coming from out-of-state. The day's activities have been planned to give everyone a chance to renew old friendships and to reminisce about the "good ole days."

Dr. Henry Galloway, who served as pastor from 1967-1969, will be the guest speaker for the morning worship service. Following the service, a covered dish luncheon is planned.

At 2 p.m. a musical program is scheduled, featuring the Chancel Choir and Handbell Choir, along with special musical selections. The Homecoming activities will close with an Open House at the parsonage, hosted by Rev. and Mrs. Harry Russell, from 3 to 5 p.m.

During the day a memento table will be on display to give everyone a chance to remember how the Community Church has grown along with Belle Glade.

Anyone who has been a member or who has attended Community Church at any time since it was originally founded is cordially invited to join in the Homecoming festivities, as we celebrate our Christian heritage.

Royal's opens Wauchula furniture store

Belle Glade - Royal's Furniture announced the opening of the seventh furniture and appliance showroom. The new showroom opened at Wauchula, the largest city in Hardee County.

Director of Store Operations Larry Parrish said this week the expansion into Hardee County represented the continuing growth of the retail furniture company and underscored Royal's commitment to expansion.

The 54-year-old retail business founded by G.L. Royal of Belle Glade operated department stores in south central Florida until early this summer when the department stores were sold to a leading national retail chain, McCrory's Variety Stores. The home furnishings and appliance sales division of the company was retained.

"Customer reaction to our new furniture showrooms has been most encouraging and underscored our commitment to retail home furnishings and appliances as an important market for our company," said Parrish.

Wauchula marks the northern-most expansion for the company. Royal's Furniture showrooms are located in Belle Glade, Okeechobee, Clewiston, LaBelle, Immokalee and Lake Placid.

Wauchula is the county seat of Hardee County, a county of about 20,000 residents in the heart of the citrus belt between Sebring and Tampa. Wauchula's market has many similarities to other cities where we have stores," said Parrish. "Our pre-opening reception has been most gratifying."

"Our continuing commitment to expand our facilities throughout south central Florida means our customers will continue to be provided with lower prices due to our volume buying."

"We believe Royal's Furniture offers the right blend of the benefits of volume buying only a group of stores can command and the hometown service and customer attention that has been a hallmark of the Royal's company since 1929," Parrish said.

"The strength of Florida's economy and the forecasts for continuing unprecedented growth in central Florida continues to generate optimism as evidenced by this latest expansion," Parrish concluded.

The Wauchula showroom, located in the heart of the downtown shopping area, features a collection of "mini" room settings which allow home furnishings to be displayed as they would appear in the home complete with complementing accessories.

This departure from the more traditional furniture showroom provides the customer with decorating ideas and the added advantage of coordinating the furniture purchase with colors and room schemes. The mini showrooms have proven popular in other Royal's locations.

Whirlpool appliances, Quasar, Sanyo and other nationally advertised home entertainment and a broad selection of waterbeds, many of which are on display with complementing case pieces are featured at the new location.

Royal's financing services are available, and, due to the size of the company, Royal's handles its own financing adding convenience and savings for financing customers.

Royal's Furniture warehouse and corporate office is in Belle Glade.

Glades Central 'blessed' claims head coach Brown

By TOM KISKEN
BELLE GLADE — "We were blessed," said Glades Central Coach Dan Brown after watching his Raiders edge rival Pahokee, 7-6, in the season's tension filled debut, Friday night, Sept. 7.

While Brown was ecstatic over the victory, frustration showed in the words of Pahokee's head man, Don Thompson:

"It devastated our boys over the weekend," he said. "But it's over now and that's it."

The Raiders scored early in the second quarter on a 13 yard pass from Kenny Hammond to Wardell Jefferson and then turned back several Pahokee threats to hold on to victory.

Perhaps the biggest play of the game came late in the fourth period when Glades Central swarmed over Blue Devil Alphonso Smith on a two-point conversion try which would have earlier Kenny Berry had snuck over from the one-yard line to give the Blue Devils their shot at victory.

Brown noted that Eugene Miller made an excellent play in collaring Smith on the two point conversion. "The kids knew that if we stopped them we'd win," he summed up.

In explaining his decision to go for victory, Thompson said that with over two minutes left in the game he thought the team would have ample time for another scoring opportunity if the conversion attempt failed. He also noted the Blue Devils had earlier missed two field goal attempts, increasing the risk of an extra point kick.

As it turned out the Blue Devils nearly made Thompson look like a prophet. After missing the conversion point, the team recovered an on-side field goal attempt and was driving at the Glades Central 30-yard line when a fumble cost them the ball game. "We thought we had the game won right up until that last fumble," he said.

Both coaches agreed that the game may well have been decided in the second quarter when the Raiders held off two Pahokee threats inside the five-yard line, both ending with the failed field goal attempts. On the first drive the Raiders pushed the Blue Devils back to the 30-yard stripe and on the second drive Pahokee ended up losing 15 yards after moving within scoring distance.

Thompson said, "That is what they call a turning point."

First game jitters and errors were very apparent right from the opening kickoff. The teams tallied a combined total of 203 penalty yards.

Brown said, "We did a good job, but there's much, much room for improvement. We had some breakdowns on long runs and easy passes that we just have to stop."

Overall, Brown added, he was pleased with the team's defensive performance. Marty Darisaw, safety; Anthony Ware, defensive lineman and Eugene Lawson, linebacker all played strong games, he said. Troy Bailey and Arthur Parrish also made their presence known on defense.

Offensively, the Raiders did not have much to cheer about, Brown said, pointing at the team's 49 yards rushing. Quarterback Kenny Hammond came on after a slow start to amass 186 yards through the air and Wardell Jefferson nabbed seven passes for 132 yards.

Thompson said mental errors spelled defeat for Pahokee. "A guard wouldn't pull on the right play, or we wouldn't hit the right hole."

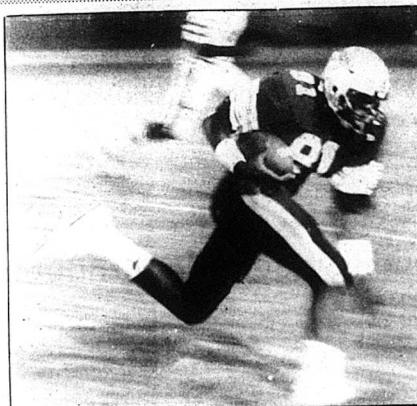

"But that's as much the coaches fault as the players."

On offense the Blue Devils were able to run the ball as Venton Oliver galloped for about 70 yards and the team totalled 140 yards. The team had virtually no passing attack with quarterbacks Kenny Berry and Pell Thompson tallying only 56 yards in the air.

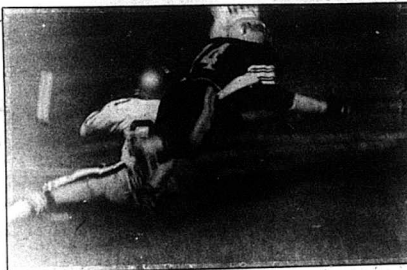

"One thing that really hurt us was our inability to get any type of passing game at all," Thompson said.

A positive point for the Blue Devils was their intensity and aggressiveness, Thompson said. "Our kids fought like the dickens right to the end," he said.

Blue Devils who had noteworthy performances, Thompson said, include: Vincent Jones, guard and linebacker; Leon Hill, center; and Venton Oliver, running back.

BG squad preparing to meet N. Shore

BELLE GLADE — The Raiders of Glades Central will travel to North Shore High School for a district game, Friday, Sept. 11.

Coach Dan Brown said his squad will have its hands full with North Shore, who is coming off a season opening 42-0 stomping of Jupiter. North Shore features a running attack which ground out over 300 yards against Jupiter.

Pahokee native Rodney Banks, North Shore quarterback, also poses a big passing threat, according to Brown.

The Raiders, Brown said, have been spending their practice time polishing both offense and defense. "I'm concerned about our total program," he said.

While the Raiders are excited to have the opening game against Pahokee, he said, the team will have to improve significantly to earn its second consecutive victory. "We've got to do what we've been doing, only much better," Brown said.

Glades Day opens season against 'hard' Verot High

BELLE GLADE — The Myers team defeated Glades Day School Glades Day 28-27, the football Gators will open their season Friday in Fort Myers when they are to slow hard-running Bishop Verot. Friday night's game: Last year the Fort

"I hope our guys remember that loss," he said. "I sure remember."

Bishop Verot probably represents the best offense the Gators will see all year, Walker said. The wishbone offense used by Verot features a very strong running game. Walker said he wouldn't be surprised to see two or three of Verot's backs top the 1,000 yard mark by season end.

"We're going through our normal preparation and trying to defense that to score two or three times to win," Walker said.

The Gators will depend on all-conference tailback Phillip Echols for yardage, Walker said, but will also put the ball in the hands of several other weapons including: Derrick Korbly, wide receiver; Bayan Abraham, tight end; and Willie Bueno, fullback.

CDS defeated in first game

By LINDA JOHNSON
BELLE GLADE — The season's opening game at Christian Day is one that will bring the Crusaders back to football basics.

"We looked like we had never seen a football before," said head coach James Jacks. "We are going to start with the basics again."

Miami Country Day devastated the Crusaders 28-0 Saturday. Jacks said the team lost the game by their own mistakes.

"The defense did fairly well the first half," he said, "but they made a few mistakes the second half that cost us the game."

Christian Day gained 35 yards on the ground and 60 yards in the air. Miami gained 125 total yards. Fumbling and dropping the ball was a problem suffered by both teams, Jacks said.

The Crusaders completed four of 13 attempted passes and Miami completed five of 12 attempted passes. John Wald scored three of Miami's touchdowns.

team had looked good at the jamboree the week before that. "The offense just didn't execute well the second half," he said.

"We just didn't play up to our capabilities; we couldn't hold on to the ball," he added.

Jacks expressed confidence that the team will be back up for the game Friday, Sept. 14 at Boca Raton Academy, which begins at 3 p.m. "If they execute like they should, we will win," he said.

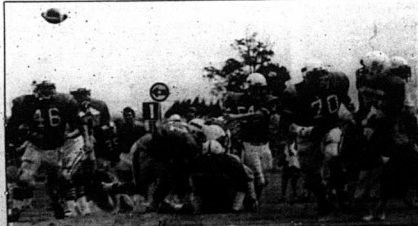

Boca Raton is coming off a win against Hollywood and should be pretty strong, Jacks said the Crusaders will have to watch out for Boca Raton's running game, which he said is very strong.

"Boca is a well coached team and they will come out hitting hard," Jacks said. He said the team's attitude is still pretty good, even after the loss. "They realize they can play football," he said.

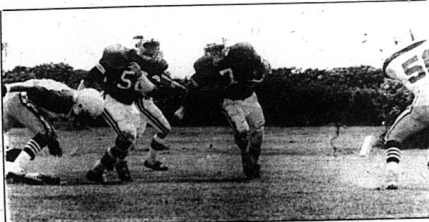

"We can hold our own against any team we play, we just have to execute better," Jacks said.

Pahokee to face angry Pope John Paul

PAHOKEE —Pahokee Coach Don Thompson says he expects his Blue Devils to be facing an angry, fired Pope John Paul, Friday night, Sept. 14, at Pahokee. Thompson discounted Pope John Paul's 340 loss to Santaluces last week. "They're very big, very strong and very aggressive," he said. The Blue Devils will have at least one major change in their starting lineup Friday night. Junior Pell Thompson will take over the starting quarterback reins from Kenny Berry. Thompson said hopefully the switch will revitalize Pahokee's passing game which floundered in the team's 7-6 opening loss to Glades Central. "Hopefully, Pell can load all our barrels on offense," the coach said. The move should allow Berry to concentrate more on his play as a defensive safety. "We think Kenny is probably our most important defensive player," he said. Berry will also see action as a wide receiver. Besides the quarterback switch, Thompson said the team is just reviewing its offensive and defensive game plans and trying to eliminate breakdowns.

Fishing Report

Compliments of Tennessee's Pro Guide Service

BELLE GLADE —Fishing in Lake Okeechobee this past week has slowed to a crawl due to weather and high winds. Hopefully, the weather will improve as the weekend nears and Hurricane Diana continues to move northward.

Some bass have been caught in and around the corn fields, using small gold and black topwater lures. A few fish are starting to move to the outside of the Pelican Bay area.

Larger bass are being caught in the south end of the lake because wild shiners are schooling and bedding in and around the thick grass and hydrilla.

Just this past weekend, my partner and I captured 14 fish in just a couple of hours in the north part of the lake. A keeper bass must be at least 12 inches in length.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that our lake is for recreation and the only way we can keep it clean and fruitful is not to pollute it.

Cans thrown overboard ruin our fish beds as well as the vegetation in the lake. The same goes for used fishing lines and hooks, which not only hurt the lake, but also can be very expensive should they get caught around a prop. So remember everyone, be good to our lake and our lake will be good to you.

Until next week, safe boating and good fishing.

Rev. Robert Carlson
A Pinch of Salt

"The good influence of godly citizens causes a city to prosper, but the moral decay of the wicked drives it downhill." Proverbs 11:11 from the Living Bible.

Jesus put it another way: "You are the salt of the earth. You are the light of the world." Salt prevents meat from decaying and light keeps people from stumbling.

But for too long godly citizens have not had a good influence, consequently many around us are stumbling in spiritual darkness and society suffers moral decay.

You ask, "How can I be a good influence?" Here are three points I have put in the form of an illustration:

PERSONAL INFLUENCE - "...Be their ideal; let them follow the way you teach and live; be a pattern for them in your love, your faith, and your clean thoughts." 1 Timothy 4:12 LB

PRAYERFUL INFLUENCE - "Here are my directions: pray for others; plead for God's mercy upon them; give thanks for all He is going to do for them. 'Pray in this way for kings and all others who are in authority over us.'" 1 Timothy 2:1-2 LB

POLITICAL INFLUENCE - Paul exercised his rights as a Roman citizen when he said, "No! I demand my privilege of a hearing before the Emperor himself I appeal to Caesar." Acts 25:10-11 LB

If you are a Christian and really care about the safety and prosperity of this City and this Nation, then do these three things: Be an example of integrity; pray for everyone, including the government leaders you don't like; exercise your rights as an American citizen by voting. Your vote counts.

Determined to vote in the 1840 election, an Indiana farmer traveled many miles, arriving at the county courthouse just as the polls were closing. When told there were no more ballots, he wrote the name, Madison Marsh, his choice for the state legislature, on a piece of scrap paper and placed it in the box.

Marsh won that election by just one vote. The first time Marsh voted in the state legislature, he cast his ballot for candidate Harrigan, who was running for the U.S. Senate. Harrigan, believe it or not, won by that one vote. And now to carry this story to a ridiculous extreme, I have to tell you that Senator Harrigan voted in favor of bringing Texas into the Union, again winning that vote by just one ballot.

Your vote does count. But you can't vote unless you're registered. So register this week and then begin praying and studying so that on November 6 your ballot will count for what your really believe is right.

"The good influence of godly citizens causes a city (or nation) to prosper..."

'Tom Sawyer' performed at Prince Theater in BG

PAHOKEE -- "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" drew rave reviews from those who attended the show at the Prince Theater Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8-9.

Director Mary Lee Salvatore said that while she was disappointed with the attendance at the play, she was surprisingly pleased with the performance itself.

"I'd guess 300-350 people saw the play over the weekend and we just want more people to come out and see it," she said. "The people who did see it are just as telling us how much they enjoyed it."

About 200 people attended the play Saturday night and saw a performance which Salvatore said "just sparkled." She said she was as surprised as anyone at the quality of the performance, considering that the dress rehearsals had been very rough.

Salvatore said she is hoping to hold an encore performance of Sawyer at Prince Theater later this week for area children, if a sponsor can be found who will cover the electricity bill.

H&R Block, new owner and location

BELLE GLADE -- The H & R Block income tax preparation office is under new management and in a new location, according to owner Blake Rowe.

The new office is located at 1540 N.W. Ave. L, Suite 106, Belle Glade and is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Rowe and his wife, Diane, purchased the H & R Block franchise in Belle Glade and Okeechobee.

Mrs. Rowe operates the business in Okeechobee and Rowe runs the Belle Glade office.

The couple, along with their two children, live in Okeechobee. Rowe is from northern Illinois and has been with H & R Block for 10 years. His wife has been with the company for 20 years.

"We take an H & R Block franchise and we try to personalize it and run a personal and private operation," Rowe said.

"In addition to that, we are here on a year 'round basis. It's a full service operation, he added.

H & R Block will be offering an income tax course starting Tuesday, Sept. 18. The course is three hours, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Rowe said the course will go through the first week in December and the cost is $99.50.

"From the class we get all of our employees," Rowe added. He said that everyone who works for H & R Block must complete the course.

Rowe said the class size is limited to 15 per class and may be offered in two classes if response is good.

Farm Bureau asks caution during nat'l safety week

Sept. 16-22 has been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week, a time designated to emphasize farm and ranch safety activities.

The theme, "Manage for better safety and health," stresses management and planning as tools to make agriculture a safer and healthier industry.

The National Safety Council estimates that in 1983, farm work accidents resulted in approximately 1,900 deaths and about 190,000 disabling injuries, with a loss of several billion dollars.

While most farmers, ranchers and farm workers know to handle machinery safely, wear protective clothing and use guards and shields on farm equipment, there are safety hazards often not considered.

Ranking among the top 10 causes of 180 high safety occupations by the National Institute of Occupational Safety

Health. Economic pressures, high seasonal workloads, decision making and weather worries can all cause stress and impair a farmer's ability to recognize a hazardous situation.

Farms and ranches are a great place to raise children, but where else can a small child go out the back door to a shed full of powerful machinery, a pen full of animals larger and stronger than himself or a shop crammed with tools
